

Next Wednesday the great and small Radicals of the country will assemble in convention at Cincinnati for a grand wrangle over who shall carry their banner to—defeat next November. A regular Kilkenny cat-fight will take place then and there. Blaine and Morton and Brewster and Conkling, and all the rest of the half-score will have their hummers and wire-workers there to pull and haul the delegates, and after the smoke of battle passes away we will know who it is that is willing to sacrifice himself upon the altar of Radicalism, and who it is that we are called upon to defeat in the coming conflict, with Tilden or Bayard or Hendricks. Two weeks after their convention, the great untimely Democracy will meet in St. Louis. They will go up from the highways and the hedges. They will be there from Maine and California, from Virginia and South Carolina—a patriotic band, resolved to nominate some one to lead our hosts to victory. We predict that when they meet and reason together, all petty differences will cease, and with one heart and one voice they will unite in our common cause against the enemies of the government who, for fifteen years, have wielded a power for evil never before known in this free land. The password of every delegate should be "Reform." Let the currency question work out its own problem. Place an honest reformer at the head of National affairs—and then all good things will be added unto us.

It is quite common for some persons to say, that when an office is to be filled by a vote of the people, that if there is no politics in it, then we should not draw the party lines, but vote for a good man, whether he be of one party or another. We quite agree with the Courier-Journal, which says that the party lines should be sharply and tightly drawn in all cases, even in the election of a Sheriff or Constable. That if a Democrat votes for a Radical who offers for such an office, it is strengthening the opposition and weakens our party. Especially, in our Presidential election year, should we stand true to our party, and give no aid or comfort to the enemy. No party is well organized whose members fail to vote for their own candidates, whether the office they seek be political or not. The organization of the Republican party is so perfect, and its members so clannish, that if they have no candidate of their own to vote for, they will not go to the polls. This is especially true of the "colored troops who fight nobly" for their own men, but refuse to vote at all if they can't vote for a Radical. Democrats should do the same thing, and, under no state of case, give a Radical vote. In union there is strength.

But few States, comparatively, have instructed their delegates to the Democratic Convention at St. Louis, how to, or for whom to vote. This is entirely proper. The Republican party, on the contrary, have been mixed up, and instructed their delegates to the Cincinnati Convention, to vote for certain candidates. The result will be, that there will be wrangling and confusion in their camp. The central idea with our party, is, to nominate good and true men for President and Vice President, and after the ticket shall have been made, each State, in our opinion, will heartily endorse it, and rally around the platform, and give the nominees an earnest support, whomever they may be. Laying aside all sectional issues, we intend to battle for the right, and, if possible, make a change in the administration of the Government, to the end that "Grantism" and all that the term implies, shall be overthrown, and an honest and capable administration take its place.

JOHN BRIGHT, the great English Reformer, said, on a notable occasion, that nothing struck him more than the consideration that "at this moment there are millions of men at work, sacrificing and giving up their leisure to a life of sustained hardship, confronting peril in every shape, for the sake of the sustenance and comfort of women and children, and doing all they could to maintain their happiness." Might it not be added that there are also millions of women at this moment, engaged in the same way, sacrificing their leisure, happiness, and even their lives, to the end, that their children and their husbands may have comfort and ease? Verily, the honor and glory of such a sacrifice does not attach solely to the male members of creation. Each in his or her sphere, has done so since the world began, and doubtless Providence so ordained that it should be. Nature, through Nature's God has so decreed, and who shall gild the propriety of it?

THE Annual Sunday School Convention of the State, composed of all the schools connected with the Christian, or Reformed church in Kentucky, will convene in Shelbyville, on the 13th of this month. If all the other denominations of Christians in the State would hold similar Conventions, the cause of the Sabbath Schools would be much promoted.

THE Radical party takes great delight in saying that the rebels have full control of one branch of the Government. True, oh, King, and it is well enough for the country, and well enough for all of us, that the Democratic party has, at last, by their honesty, obtained control of the Lower House of Congress. What would have been the present condition of the country, if they had failed to do so? Belknap would still have been Secretary of War—no investigations would have been made into the conduct of any Government thief or official. It is well enough that the rebels put a check upon your villainous conduct, which had been going on too long. We live in the hope that, before another year shall have passed, these same rebels will have control of the Government entirely. Not until that happy day comes, can our people lift their hands and shout.

A BRILLIANT AMERICAN NOVEL.—John Estlin Cooke, of Virginia, an American Novelist, whose stories, in thrilling situations, sustained power, dramatic intensity, and charming diction, are unsurpassed, has written for the Detroit Free Press a serial entitled "CANOLLES: THE FORTUNES OF A PARTISAN OF '81. A STORY OF THE REVOLUTION." It will be commenced in the Weekly Free Press of June 10th. During this Centennial year such a story should be especially welcome. Such of our readers as are interested in this department of literature, will, no doubt, gladly hail "Canolles" as the type of the heroic partisan of American liberty, and hasten to secure for themselves the pleasure of a perusal of what promises to be the most attractive story of the year.

It will not do serious harm to Mr. Tilden, to put out the advertisements in his favor as "reading matter." No doubt it was a dodge made by his enemies, to do him injury, but its transparency is quite visible. He says that he did not authorize any one to puff him into notoriety, and did not know that any one had done it for him, until he saw it in the papers. We would take Mr. Tilden's word in this matter, before that of any of his accusers and sham friends. Bates & Locke, through whose advertising agency this mean attempt to harm an honest man was made, owe it to the country at large, to tell who the guilty parties are, and Governor Tilden owes it to himself and his friends, to demand the whole truth of Bates & Locke.

If the death of the late Sultan of Turkey, and the accession to his throne by another will be the means of quieting the war in that unhappy country, and making their people more tolerant; it would seem that the "finger of God" was in the whole proceeding. Whether Abdul Aziz died by his own hand, or by the hands of violence, it matters not, provided war will cease and civilization and peace ensue. The abolition of the Seraglio, and with it, of course, the abolition of the harem, and perhaps polygamy, will do much to christianize and civilize these semi-barbarians. The Turkish empire may have a far brighter future in store for her people than they have ever dared hope for until now.

THE twelve appropriation bills which have to be passed by Congress to meet the current expenses of the Nation, still hang fire in those two bodies. This is the middle of June, and only two of the twelve bills have been acted upon. It will require all summer to complete the work before Congress, and all the Fall too if the Senate does not alter its course. Every day but adds to the expense of the government, but what do lordly legislators care for expenses.

A MAN named Beaumont, proprietor of a paper published at Mayfield, Ky., was detected robbing registered letters of their contents, and was held to answer before the U. S. Court at Paducah, in the sum of $10,000 bail. Beaumont was employed to carry the mail from town to the depot, a half mile off, and for four or five years he has been stealing, until he got nearly $3,000. He is a man of family, and was considered honest. Truly, the love of money is the root of all evil.

ZACHARIAH CHANDLER, the present Secretary of the Interior, under Grant, stated that Jacob Thompson, the Secretary of the Interior, under Buchanan, had defaulted, and ought to be impeached. Mr. Thompson, on hearing of the charge, went to Washington and confronted his accuser. The fact is, that Mr. Thompson's case was investigated by a Radical committee, and he was wholly exonerated. Mr. Chandler had better dry up.

THERE will be, in all probability, another dead millionaire in a short time. Commodore Vanderbilt, is said to be on his last bed of sickness, and his death at any time would not be a surprise to the country. His many acts of charity, notably the great gift to the University at Nashville, which bears his name, have already endeared him to thousands. His fortune is well up to sixty millions.

THE Committee on Banking and Currency have the right granted them to report at any time. This simply means that they will soon report a bill for the immediate repeal of the Specie Resumption Act. So mote it be, and so may that bill be at once repealed. The whole country would applaud it.

THE particulars have been given in the city papers of Louisville, relative to the killing of U. S. Marshal Harrington, by Capt. Taylor, of the steamboat Katie Dixon. When Taylor shot Harrington, the posse who was with the latter, fired and killed Capt. Taylor instantly. The trouble grew out of an order to seize Taylor's boat for debt. Life, in these days, seems to be very uncertain.

DR. J. C. AYRES, of Cherry Pectol and patent Almanac fame, has become deranged, and was sent to an insane asylum last week. He built up a huge fortune with the sales of his Pectol, Sarasaparilla and Ague Cure, and now, at the prime of life is unable to enjoy it. He holds a patent for a medicine man, made a fortune, became insane, and lost all of it.

THE man Harney, swore that Speaker Kerr received a bribe from him in 1865. The Speaker swears that Harney lies. Which do you believe?—the man to fortune and to fame unknown, or the one who has made a character for honesty and integrity through a long and honorable life in the public service?

WHEN the Radicals in Congress hissed the Hon. Proctor Knott, while he was speaking on the Blaine investigation, he paused a moment, and then said—"there are three things in the world that hiss—the snake, the goose, and the fool." They didn't hiss any more that day.

BLAINE tackled Proc Knott on the floor of Congress the other day, but he found that he had picked up a piece of red hot iron, as he dropped the Duluth orator in a hurry.

THERE is one little thing that is pregnant with argument in favor of the option law to which we desire to call the attention of the good people of Mayfield, and that is, that this city—a place of fully 2,000 souls—has neither a police judge nor city marshal, and, in fact, has no need of either.—[Mayfield Monitor.

THE Nelson Record is entitled to go head. It produces the following Centennial relic: We have heard of Centennial hats, swords, boots, pistols, tea-kettles, coffee-pots, but never of Centennial coffee. Dr. J. R. A railroad from Falmouth to Walton, connecting at the latter place with both the Cincinnati Southern and the Louisville Short-line, is not by any means either impracticable or unlikely to be made a matter of fact. Such a road would be of immense advantage to this section. It would give us two connecting lines at Cincinnati, and a direct route to Louisville, and hence two tobacco markets, where at present we have but one. Competition in freight and passenger rates between this point and Cincinnati would alone be worth an immense sum to our people.—[Pendleton Democrat.

Republican Meeting.

STANFORD, KY., June 5th, 1876.

Editor Interior Journal—

This being County Court day, a large crowd was in town, and the Republicans held a meeting for the purpose of calling out some one to become their candidate for Congress against any one who might be nominated by the Democratic party for the same position. After the meeting was organized, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That having the utmost confidence in the honesty and ability of Hon. W. O. Bradley, we, the Republicans of Lincoln county, earnestly call upon him to become the Republican candidate for Congress, in this, the 8th District, and pledge ourselves to use all honorable means within our power, to secure his election.

Resolved, That having in view the splendid canvass which Mr. Bradley made for Congress several years ago; we believe he would carry our banner to victory, if he should make the race.

Resolved, That the foregoing be published in the Louisville Commercial, and also, the papers in the 8th Congressional District.

It is claimed that Owen Grimes, who was at one time State Librarian of Kentucky, is the original inventor of the McCormack reaping machine, which made the latter a millionaire. Pity but Grimes did not have genius enough to utilize his invention.

WHEN the C. S. R. R. shall have been completed, the towns along the line of that road will be supplied with the early products of the Southern States as soon as the city markets on the river, and hence we will be enabled to buy them at as low a price as those who now have the advantage of us in the way of shipments.

COUNTY COURT DAY.—A fair crowd of people was in town last Monday, in attendance at Court, but not a great deal of stock was on the market. Capt. H. Bush, reported the following sales, there being about a hundred head of stock on hand—17 head common yearlings, $23 each; 15 calves at $16 per head; 12 heifers $22 10 each; yearlings $18 each; 10 yearlings at $28 each; one cow $50; one do. $25; one horse $75. Reid & Flannery, railroad Contractors, brought about 40 head of work mules to market, and those which were sold, brought from $60 to $115. They had shelled off nicely, and presented a smooth appearance. There was but little demand for them.

MADISON COUNTY NEWS.

Kirkville.

AT a recent meeting of the Stockholders of the Kirkville Fair, it was decided that the next exhibition shall take place on the 14th and 15th of next month. It is to be hoped that the weather will prove more favorable than last year. We think that Kirkville ought to be able to give as good a Fair as its neighboring towns, and if every thing proves auspicious, we doubt not that the coming one will be a success.

A NEGRO boy was on trial here last Saturday, for stealing pigs from Mr. J. J. Ferris, of Paint Lick vicinity, and was held for further trial.

THE closing exercises of Prof. Milton Elliott's school will be held at the Church here, on Thursday and Friday, of this week.

A LITTLE daughter of Mr. Clifton Shifflett's, met with a serious accident a few days ago, but we learn that her condition is favorable now, and that she will soon recover.

CHERRIES, strawberries and green peas, are plentiful here now. Ice cream and strawberries were enjoyed with a relish during the warm days of last week. The weather has been quite cool for a few days past.

B. F. CAMDEN.

G. C. & W. F. Abraham,

BREEDERS and SHIPPERS OF PURE POLAND CHINA HOGS, CRAB ORCHARD.

In offering these hogs to the public we submit the following inducements. They fatten at any age, grow to an enormous size, if properly treated, and are easy to handle, profitable breeders, and are every thing that a farmer could desire in a hog. Hear the testimony of some of the best hog-raisers in the country:

The hogs I got of G. C. & W. F. Abraham are the best I ever handled; will fatten at any age, and grow large.

JOHN BAUGHMAN.

The above is also my experience.

I tried Abraham's Poland China Hogs and the Berkshire breed, side by side, and found that the Poland China will fatten on less food, and grow faster.

We could give a number of other testimonials but deem the above sufficient.

ILLUSTRATIVE of the truthful saying—"You must go from home to hear the news," we heard during our recent absence, some rumors of a fearfully scandalous character, which it was not our province to deny, nor is it proper for us to detail them in these columns at present.

THE Quarterly Court which will meet here next Monday, will probably be in session nearly all the week, owing to the increase of the docket since the Court had its jurisdiction extended to $200. It has become much more interesting as a tribunal since the new order of things took place.

A CONSIDERABLE wreck was made on the railroad beyond Richmond Junction, the other day. A broken axle, while the train was running over the Livingston stem, caused two freight cars to run together, making a complete smash of both. A brakeman was badly injured, but not fatally.

JAMES W. CARTER, a Saloon keeper at Lebanon, who once lived in Stanford, was shot and dangerously wounded last Monday night, by some one who had taken possession of a buggy which he had just left for a short time. The wound may prove fatal, as it was made in the left side, near the heart. We have not learned the full particulars.

THE Turnersville and Vandiver turnpike road company, will be formally organized at Stanford, the first Monday, in July. This is an important task, and when the road is completed, it will open up a good and short route to the timber region on Green River, for those who own farms in the Hanging Fork section which have been cleaned of timber of all kinds.

THE mysterious disappearance of the white infant of unknown parentage, left in charge of a nurse near this place, some months since, is exciting a deal of comment, and suspicions of foul play are entertained. It occurs to us that the authorities here should take cognizance of the fact, and the negro held accountable for the disappearance of the child.

WE regret that a sentence that appeared in one of our correspondents' letters last week, gave offense to Mrs. Tarrant, of the Tarrant College, Crab Orchard. Had we been at home at the time, we would have considered the propriety of allowing its publication, for Mrs. Tarrant is deserving of all praise, both in her efforts as an educator, and in her laudable design to encourage support. We have received a long production from one who signs himself "corrector" in answer to what "Correct" saw fit to write, but for various reasons, among which is the lack of point, we decline to publish it.

We are glad to see that the suggestion we made a few days since as to the necessity for sprinkling the streets, has been promptly acted upon. Bowen Pennington, has taken the contract to do the work, and Bowen is the man to do it. He will have to make his sprinkler give out a much greater flood of water, however, or it will take the whole day to wet the streets so that the dust will not fly into our houses and eyes.

SEVERAL cities, by their authorities have passed an ordinance amounting to a law, and they are to be the same thing? Crowds of people, both black and white, assemble upon our prominent corners at a time when persons are on their way to Church, and, by their presence, obstruct the pavements, which greatly annoys those who may be passing.

We announce that the "Commencement" Sermon of the Stanford Female College will be delivered in the Court-house here on next Sunday, at 11 o'clock, A. M., by the Rev. J. R. Deering, of the Methodist Church. We hope to see a large audience in attendance, as these Sermons are always interesting to the public at large. Mr. Deering is an earnest and eloquent preacher, and will, we doubt not, deliver a fine Sermon on the occasion.

The Judge of the Lincoln County Court appointed each of the Constables in the seven districts of the county, special police over the waters in their respective districts. It will be their duty, under the law, to destroy all of the fish traps, seines, dip nets, etc., which they can find in any stream. They are allowed 50 cents for destroying each one, and should they fail to do so, they are liable to an indictment at the coming Circuit Court, for the failure.

When any one says that Lark Edge, the gentlemanly Jew of the Somerset stage, is not accommodating, we rise to a point of order, and "deny the allegation, and defy the alligator." In an experience extending over three years, we have yet to note a single instance wherein he could accommodate any one, that he failed to do so. We wish Mr. Belknap to be as easily cleared of his charge as Mr. Edge can be of the Somerset Reporter's charge against him.

EDITORS, as well as common people, have their weaknesses. So we discovered in two days' association with the press representatives at Danville. Brown takes "coffee" as his soda; Barbour blows out the gas; Chapman sucks molasses candy between his teeth; Miliken uses Bloom of Youth; Ellis pulls down his vest; Nield wipes his chin; Harrison spits on his No. 13 pipe; Corine wipes his proboscis on his coat sleeve; Deering wears his linen worn side up, and Woods can't eat out a cannibal. Worrel exhibits a weakness for button hole fivers, and Murray dyes his mustache.

LITIGANTS and lawyers will now have less cause of complaint about not having enough Court days. They will have eight weeks instead of four, in the two Courts—Circuit and Common Pleas, and four weeks in the Quarterly—in all twelve weeks, which is about one-fourth of the entire year. As no Civil Jury case has been tried here for nearly two years, on account of all the time being taken up in the trial of Criminal cases, there have been just grounds for serious complaint heretofore. The new Court will prove to be a blessing to many, and the end, in the end, less than when we did not have it.

COMMON PLEAS—Judge Breckinridge unexpectedly received his Commission as Judge, last Saturday night. Consequently he came here on Monday, and organized his Court, by appointing Wm. Lucas, John S. Owsley, and Jackson Givens, Jury Commissioners, where it will be for the coming twenty-four Petit Jurymen for the session in December. No other business was done, as the Circuit Court will have to transfer from that Docket to the Common Pleas Docket, half of its cases at the October term. The Act creating the new Court empowers the Judge thereof, to change the time of holding his Courts in the various counties from the day as fixed by the law, and Judge Breckinridge thinks of changing his terms in this county, from the 1st Monday in June and December, to the 1st Monday in January and July. This would be the better time, as the April term of the Circuit Court ends about the first of May, and if the Common Pleas Court is not changed, there would be only a month intervening between the two.

SPEAKING.—The crowd in town last Monday, clamored for a speech from some one. The bell was rung, and the Court room soon filled up, after which, a call was made for Rev. Mr. Kirk, the Independent candidate for Congress from this District. He kept the audience in a fine humor, not by wit, or jest, or anecdote, but by the quiet reasons he gave for wanting to go to Congress, and why he thought the people ought to send him there. We incline to the opinion, that Rev. Kirk ought to pursue the slinger from the pulpit, and not from the floor of Congress. The probability is, that he will never have a chance to sell a Sunday-school, or get a salary grant. After he finished his harangue, the irrepressible Fontaine T. Fox Bobbitt, came forth from a convenient seat, and entirely exhausted the dictionary in his speech of half an hour, in which he took occasion, as usual, to harp upon all the candidates for Congress. Calls were made for others to speak, but they very wisely declined after listening to the "Cicero of the Mountains" and the "Demagogue of the valleys."

Kentucky Press Convention. Again have the editors of the Kentucky Press, had an opportunity of becoming personally acquainted with each other, and enjoying that social intercourse which is so pleasant to men who labor in a common cause. A more delightful place than Danville, could not have been chosen for the happy re-union and meeting, nor could a more hospitable and clever people be found to entertain the fraternity, than reside in its beautiful confines. The majority of the members of the Association arrived on the day preceding the meeting of the Convention, and were entertained during the evening, in a most royal manner, by the justly popular, and distinguished newspaper man, J. H. H. of the Advocate. We regret that we were unable to arrive in time to enjoy Mr. Marx' hospitality, at his reception, but subsequently, had just reason to know that he is a prince of entertainers. The Convention was called to order by Hon. J. Stoddard Johnson, of the Yeoman, the Chairman elected at the last meeting of the Convention. Mr. J. W. Hopper, of the absence of the regular Secretary, was appointed pro tem. The following gentlemen were then found to be present: T. J. Young, Bath county News. W. R. Barbour, Lebanon Times & Kentucky. C. S. Nield, Harrodsburg Observer & Reporter. WICKLIFFE CHAPMAN, Elizabethtown News. C. C. WHITE, Flemingsburg Banner. J. P. BROWN, Courier-Journal. JNO. P. MURRAY, Nelson county Record. FRENCH TIPPIN, Lancaster Letter. J. P. COFFEY, Shelbyville Republican. THOS. P. WORRELL, Co-operative Journal of Progress. BEN DEERING, Midway Sun. J. G. LYLES, People's Debater. J. G. CRADDOCK, True Kentucky. JAS. R. MARSH, Danville Advocate. J. L. BRUCE, J. L. BRUCE, J. L. BRUCE. JNO. E. HATCHER, Courier-Journal. DR. J. D. WOOD, Glasgow Times. BEN HARRISON, Henderson News. J. H. MILLIKEN, Centre College Student. A. C. ELLIS, Shelby Sentinel. J. STODDARD JOHNSON, Frankfort Yeoman.

J. W. HOPPER, Lebanon Standard. E. POLK JOHNSON, St. Louis Times. H. P. DILL, Hopkinsville New Era. GEO. BAKER, Lexington Dispatch. W. P. WALTON, Interior Journal. S. I. M. MAJOR, Yeoman. SAM. L. EWING, Courier-Journal. W. J. DAVIS, Home & School. J. W. DUBCAN, Farmers Home Journal. W. H. BOWAN, Louisville Globe. J. W. JONES, Correspondent Louisville Commercial.

F. L. MCCORMICK, Paris Citizen. After some preliminary business, a member moved that the charges of embezzlement of the funds of the Association made against the Treasurer, old man Craddock, which motion, after many points of order were made and argued, was carried, and a committee appointed for the purpose. This committee retired to Shelby's Saloon, and over their mint juleps, laid the testimony against the wretched old reprobate who is feared to contemplate the crimes of this old man, who, from his appearance, can't survive many more centuries. His wickedness has at last found him out, but we are in hopes that he is not entirely lost, and that his wife and little ones may yet look on him with pride.

At 2 o'clock, the Convention, by invitation, proceeded in a body, to Centre College, where they were met by the Faculty, who, through their President, Dr. Beatty, extended us a hearty welcome, and God speed. For the entertainment of the members, five or six young men, of each class, were introduced, who, in examination, showed a wonderful amount of knowledge of the languages, and a deep and thorough training by the officers of the school. Afterwards we were shown over the grand old building, from whose walls so many distinguished men have gone forth, and found it commodious and complete in every particular. A most elegant repast was then served by the ladies of the Institution, and after its discussion, the body were conveyed to the Deaf and Dumb Institution, and were given an exhibition of the wonderful attainments of its pupils. It is indeed a matter of great surprise and gratification, to see what an amount of knowledge can be conveyed to these unfortunate children. A supper fit for the Gods, was, after the entertainment, tendered, and for the fifth time during the day, we sat down to replenish the inner man. It was so much eating, that led the inimitable Dr. Woods, of the Glasgow Times, to remark that it was as if he feared that the Convention would not be a large one, but he was confident that if this state of things lasted, it would be a very full body. The literary exercises were held at 8 o'clock, in the very commodious and handsome building of the 2nd Presbyterian Church; a large and handsome audience of ladies and gentlemen, added interest to the occasion, and every thing passed off in the most delightful manner. Judge Breckinridge's address of welcome, was short, and appropriate, and Geo. Baber, of the Lexington Dispatch, was very felicitous in his response on behalf of the Fraternity. The Annual Address delivered by Mr. E. Polk Johnson, of the St. Louis Times, was listened to with great interest, and was a speech of extraordinary merit. In conclusion, he elaborated on the beauties and merits of Danville, and promised to move the Convention "to hold its state of things" at Danville, on the first Wednesday in November.

The poem by Mr. H. P. Dill, of the Hopkinsville News, was spoken of as an excellent production, and it is predicted that this young man will yet make a reputation as a poet. Owing to the lateness of the hour, the Historical Address which was to have been delivered by Mr. S. I. M. Major, of the Yeoman, was omitted, but he was granted leave to have it printed. The entertainment of the occasion was increased by sweet music discoursed at intervals by the Great Western Star Band, of Louisville. On Thursday morning, an excursion to "Melrose," the farm of Mr. McGowan, was made, and the same lavish hospitality which has characterized every citizen of this vicinity, was extended.

The Convention met for business again at 2 o'clock, and after the trial and acquittal of Craddock, went into the election of officers for the ensuing year. Hon. J. Stoddard Johnson was re-elected President, and Geo. Baber, Vice President. J. W. Hopper, Secretary, Jno. E. Hatcher, Post, Dr. J. D. Woods, Ordor, and J. G. Craddock, Treasurer. Resolutions of thanks were voted to the citizens of Danville, for their hospitality, to the L. & N. C. C. and Paducah and Great Western Railroads, for a reduction of rates to the members of the Association, and to Mr. Shelby, of the Crab Orchard Springs, for an invitation to attend and enjoy his hospitality.

On motion of Mr. J. B. Marx, Mr. Jno. E. Hatcher, Jno. P. Murray and Geo. Baber, were appointed to attend in behalf of this body, the meeting of the Tennessee Press Convention, which convenes at Columbus, next week. The Chairman announced in a short, eloquently spoken, the death of Jno. B. Scudler, of the Carlisle Mercury, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to his memory. On motion, Judge Breckinridge and Hon. J. Q. Chenoweth, were made honorary members of the Association. It was decided that the Convention meet at Frankfort, next year, the date to be hereafter decided by a committee appointed for that purpose. The Convention then adjourned in a body, the display of the skill of the young students of the Military School. Some ten different features of their drill were given, but our messenger is at hand, and we end this hastily written sketch, while the band is playing a most charming piece.

Mr. Marx, and the gentlemen of the Committee of Reception, deserve the high-est thanks of the Fraternity, for the complete and thorough arrangements for their comfort. To-night, a banquet will be given by the citizens of the town, at Gitcher's European Hotel, and a "high time" is expected.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

CORN has come up well.

STRAWBERRIES are abundant.

JOSEPH COFFEY had three shoats stolen a few nights ago.

FISHERMEN are very plentiful and in fine spirits.

MARRIED.—On the 23d ult., near Middleburg, Miss Helen Coffey and Mr. Willis Fogle.

DIED.—On the 19th inst., William Tinsley, after a lingering illness of about 12 months. He was a good citizen, a Christian gentleman, and the community mourns his death with a fraternal feeling of sadness. It is to be hoped that his eldest son will reform his manner of life, and manfully assume the responsibilities of the family, which position he is well qualified to fill.

Our leading citizens are becoming very much interested in the subject brought before them in our last communication, viz: Stock running upon the "highways and hedges." What they have to endure from these intrusions, is intolerable, and they should not be blamed for taking any prohibitory steps that are legal.

Our Sabbath School is likely to have an increase in membership of two young gentlemen from Garrard, Messrs. William Betts and Herring. They seem pleased with the opportunities of learning something here concerning their future welfare. We hope they may live for ever. This is the way "we should let our light shine" says a couple of our meditative young ladies.

We feel grateful to the Middleburg reporter for the Kentucky Advocate, for the information given us in a late issue of that paper. As he is School Commissioner, we shall have to acknowledge that we used the word "posted" wrong. He seems to claim the word posted, as preferable, and if he has now become agent for some paste company, guess we shall all have our land, water streams, &c., posted.

The health of our region has not yet become established. Scarlet fever is still regarded with terror. The prevailing panic has tended to the depression of business—the country people declining to come to town except in cases of urgent necessity. The schools have both closed in liquidation of the regular session. Even the potato bugs are sitting around in squads, in a listless way, as if undecided about "hanging out" in so unpromising a locality.

MISS LULA BURTON, who has been for three years in the classes of Alexander College, at Parkville, has returned, bearing with her the diploma of that excellent institution. She will be warmly welcomed by her large circle of relatives and friends, and around her childhood's home. Endowed with exceeding amiability, pleasing in manner, and genial in disposition, Miss Lula has the faculty of winning friends wherever she goes; and while we are able to testify to the high esteem in which she was held among her academic associates, we can safely predict that she will be mourned and missed at the opening of the next session of her Alma Mater.

DR. BROWN writes cheerfully from Philadelphia, but hints that the thing is not near so big as represented by the newspapers. Those who study closely the illustrated weeklies, will get up a grander idea of the great pan-humbug than they would obtain by visiting it. All accounts go to show that the Quaker City will fail to realize the golden harvest she anticipated. Patriotism is not a legal tender now—it won't pay. But, according to old fashioned notions, patriotism that is got up like this, on speculation, ought to fail.

WELL, the tendency of the age is toward big results. The old bandum style of doing things is played out. The Courts have to be multiplied in order to keep pace with increasing crime. Successful candidates for offices must first have paid for the free enlightened suffrages which elevated them to position, afterwards bribe the administrators of law, in order to escape from the penalties of having bought the votes—then pay an assessment for the maintenance of the party, whose mission is to save the nation, and finally get by grand larcenies on the Government which are trying to save. Congress is kept busy legislating, not for the relief of an impoverished and starving country, but for the retaining or obtaining of the high places which, by sparkling fiction of politics, are said to be in the gift of the people. A stranger on reading the reports of doings at Washington, would naturally conclude that the sole design, and legitimate province of the National Legislature was to win and wear the honors and emoluments pertaining to positions on the Government. And the people quietly foot the bills, and meekly stare, writhing their gaunt visages into a bad imitation of a smile of satisfaction over the idea of "the best Government on earth."

The Presbyterian General Assembly, has recently stepped into the line of "progress"—caught up a mongrel semi-Christian, semi-pagan name, baptized it under the name of Pan-Prebyterianism, and set it up as an educated, revised and improved model of the original divine idea of the unity of the Church. The idea of the Parity of the Christian Ministry has never been universally popular. It is regarded rather as a Scriptural hindrance, which this new idea is destined to correct; hence, recently the annual sittings of the Assembly, were devoted to Pan-Prebyterianism, while Pan-Paganism, Pan Infidelity, Pan Worldliness, and Pan Ungodliness, were forgotten. But, as the negro preacher said when he failed to get a half fare ticket on the train, "such is life."

Crab Orchard.

DIFFICULTY and confusion seems to rage furiously among our colored friends. Dick Nelson, and his son David, disagreeing upon the propriety of Doctor going home, became slightly mixed. The Duck however, received a small check from the hands of David, just above the eye, laying about one and a half gallons of the fluid of life. He very quietly and gently took a position on the pavement for an hour or two, and then went without further persuasion to his "little bed." This morning David and one George Drake, are missing.

On Friday last, a chain of zig-zag lightning struck a tree opposite Mr. G. W. Deboard's residence, creating quite a noise, and shocking a number of gentlemen sitting in the Saunders corner.

MISS ELLA MAY, a daughter of W. G. Saunders, has, for several days, been quite ill. God speed her recovery.

JAS. G. COLLIER, dec'd, was interred near his brother's on yesterday. Some mystery seems connected with his death. From what your correspondent can learn, foul treatment is most probably the cause of his death.

MRS. TARRANT, with her corps of efficient teachers, will, to-night, give an entertainment, the proceeds of which are to assist in the purchase of marble slabs for the Confederate dead now resting in our new Cemetery.

THE Tarrant College Entertainments were well and respectfully attended; the young ladies acquitted themselves with honor, and credit is due their tutors.

THE Springs Hotel has quite a number of guests.

MRS. H. C. SAUNDERS, Anna Belle, and Maggie Lee, are visiting their friends and relatives. At present, they are the guests of W. G. and Maggie Saunders. TRUTH.

BOYLE COUNTY NEWS.

Mitchellburg. As we are stopping, for a short time, at the above place, will "quill drive" on a "small scale" for your much readable paper, the INTERIOR JOURNAL. We note the following for this week:

DIED.—At his residence, in this county, on the 21st ult., Osborne Pendergast. On the 27th ult., at his residence on Rolling Fork, Mrs. Elizabeth Pendergast. Both of whom attained to a "good old age."

PERSONAL.—Dr. Cle. Prewitt, late of Liberty, Casey county, is now a citizen of Mitchellburg. He is a clever gentleman, good physician—consequently we give him a cordial welcome.

BUNY, GORD, who has, for a short time been blacksmithing on the Rolling Fork, left for Tennessee on the 29th ult., and returned on the 1st inst.—during which time, he took for himself, one to accompany him through evil as well as good report. Ben gave the fair sex of this locality special attention, up to his departure; yet, when that momentous step was taken, it was taken in Tennessee.

R. T. VERMILION, of this place, is still manufacturing that excellent cutting-board of which several papers have previously spoken. He will have it on exhibition at various points the coming Fall. Farmers who need something of this kind should avail themselves, when Mr. Vermilion puts them on the market.

EDUCATIONAL.—Prof. W. C. Grinstead, who taught school here last year, will take charge of the school at Parkville this year. Prof. G. has very few equals as a preceptor. He taught at Parkville for four succeeding years—now that he returns again, is an evidence of his worthiness.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. R. A. Hopper, of Lebanon, preached here on the 6th inst. An excellent S. S. in progress at Parkville, one also at Mitchellburg. EN DR EN

Oh, the flies, the flies, the rip-staving, cavoring, intolerable pests. They are upon us in myriads, and countless, incomputable numbers, and every day we delay their destruction, adds to their population and our misery. But what is the remedy? Five hundred flies in this county, answer, by Trap—Harper's Fly Trap! Last season these were introduced here by Campbell & Miller, and during the season their sales amounted to twenty dozen. With every one trap in the house, the nuisance can be abated to a comfortable degree. The price this season is 75 cents.
